The National Bank has named a Committee to report on petition of Obras Company for 2,000,000. Little hope if it fails. Greater fall in stock expected. Syndicate of National Bank shares working hard, though still a good deal short.

Those who enjoy boating in the streets during rain will soon have to abandon the amusement. The "inolvidable" sumpts are to be put in apple-pie order, to carry off the flood water. It strikes us that this pleasant announcement has been made before; but during a rattling shower it takes a good deal of "seeing from the beach" (or anywhere else) before it can be said that "the waters are gone."

THE PORT WORKS

INAUGURATION OF THE SOUTH BASIN

Yesterday was a half holiday owing to the thousands who attended the grand and solemn ceremony of the inauguration of the South basin. Although 4 o'clock was the hour fixed for the departure of the official train, crowds went down to the Boca in the early part of the day, to see the large ocean steamers entering. It was indeed a grand sight. The Argentine Corvette, Almirante Brown, led the way and was followed by the large English and French steamers that came in from the outer roads, and entered the basin with flying colours and with the greatest ease. At noon the news ran through the city that the large French mail steamer Orenoque had entered, and half the Frenchmen on 'Change took the train for the Boca. The excitement increased hourly, with the news of the other steamers entering. The Brown in all its glory held the first rank. Then came the Orenoque, a truly magnificent steamer, then the Paraguay, and the Buffon and other large steamers brought up the rear. The sight was a most imposing one, and its effect was greatly enhanced by the sea of faces in every direction. The Maipu lay close to the River Wall, but our old friend the Villarino remained in the Boca.

At the Banks, Bolsa, Offices and Cafes, there was really nothing else talked of yesterday. The dream of the great Rivadavia has at last been realized, and although half a century has elapsed since Mr. Bevaus was brought out by him for the purpose, the magnitude of the enterprise fully accounted for the long delay. To Mr. Edward Madero, the indefatigable toiler in this great and grandest of River Plate master works, is due the imperishable honor of the day's celebration. For long years and years he has toiled for the cause, opposed by interests the most powerful and prejudices the most forlorn, and Buenos Ayres may well crown him with a laurel wreath that will never fade so long as Engineering science triumphs and meets the wants of progress and civilization.

With graceful tact the members of Congress of 1882, and the members of the Municipality of that period who voted and sanctioned the laws, and municipal regulations that gave birth to the present works, were invited guests. We missed, however, from that retired phalanx of public men, their leader, and their head General Roca, through whose great influence and iron determination the long pending project was at last licked into shape and made law.

At 3.36 p.m. the Central Station was crowded, and at ¼ to 4, punctual to a moment Vice President Pellegrini accompanied by his Ministers, left the Government House for the Railway Station. Strange fact, Vice President Pellegrini, who has the high honor of inaugurating this basin, is grandson of the English engineer Bevaus, who came out here more than 60 years ago to make the first surveys for a port for Buenos Ayres, Time with its wizard hand has vindicated Bevaus and his cause, realizing his dream and stamping his seed in the foremost political ranks of the country.

Spite of the great crowd at the station, the train arrangements were so excellent that all were accommodated. Vice-President Pellegrini and his Ministers, the Archbishop and his secretaries, and all the staff of the War Department occupied the last carriage. There were but few ladies in the official train; Madame Pellegrini, wife of the Vice-President, Mrs. Meyer, his sister, the Misses Madero, the Misses Irigoyen, and Mrs. and Miss Berro. The train ran through from the Central Station to the oasin, passing through the Boca and up alongside the works; we all got down in front of the Almirante Brown which was moored to the head of the dock. As the train passed from the Boca, alongside the canal leading to the basin, the cheering of the crowd and the whistling of the locomotives and the steamers moored along side was perfectly deafening. Not only all the Baca turned out for the occasion, but the whole south end of the city; boats, steamers, launches, and yachts were all in requisition. When the Vice-President stepped from the wharf to the deck of the Brown a salute was fired of 21 guns. Spite of all the orders given and the exertions of the committee the crowd at the dock head and on the Brown was enormous. Mr. Edward Madero, concessionaire, and Mr. Walker, contractor, were received on the quarter-deck by the Vice-President and the Archbishop, who then and there blessed the Basin, Madame Pellegrini gracefully acting as "madrina" on the occasion.

But the crowd was so great that very few could witness the interesting ceremony. The splendid condition of the Almirante Brown attracted universal praise. The Admiral, and the rear Admiral were on board, and Capt. Cabassa, the commander, was much complimented on the state of his ship. At the conclusion of the religious ceremony on the quarter deck, the Vice-President led the way down to the tables, where champagne flowed on all sides. There were no formal toasts. The Vice-President drank to the health of Mr. Madero, the concessionaire and parent of the work. Several friends drank in flowing bumpers to the health of Mr. Walker, the contractor; and others drank to the health of Sir John Hawkshaw; others drank to the health of Mr. Sutern of the Madero staff; also of Mr. Hanna, of the Hawkshaw staff, and Mr. Davison, of the Walker staff, all fellow-countrymen and who helped in the great cause.

A small steamer, belonging to the works, came alongside and took off the Vice-President, Archbishop, Minister, &c. sailing down the basin into the Boca and out into the channel. We accepted the kind invitation of Mr. E. Casares and sailed down the same route in his small steamer, accompanied by Mr. E. Tornquist, Dr. Dn. E. Pellegrini, Sr. Marengo, of Prov. Bank, Rev. Mr. Spilsbury of Flores, and several others. As we passed down the line of ocean steamers, moored in the basin, we thought what a wondrous change this Madero port is destined to work in Buenos Ayres. Here we have the French Mail steamer Orenoque moored to the wharf in front of the old yellow house, not 2 squares distant. The port works progressed too fast for the Municipality; and when the basin was ready it was found there were no streets made to it. Mr. Madero had to set about and make and pave a street which is called the continuation of Calle Brazil, and which is a short cut to the basin, and quite close, almost in front of the Lanus deposits. The Vice-President and his party arrived back in the little steamer about 7 o'clock when the Brown fired another salute and we all took to the train and returned to town.

THE VICTORY OF SUAKIN.

NEWS OF STANLEY.

London, Dec. 22nd.

All the government newspapers are loud in their praise of this newest feat of arms. Gen. Grenfell assaulted the trenches, drove out the Soudanese with great slaughter, the rest taking to flight and leaving their two cannons in his hands. One dispatch says "a thousand Arabs slain and four British." Another says "the rebels left 400 dead on the field," adding that the British cavalry were still in pursuit. It is difficult to understand why the Arabs are termed "rebels," as they certainly owe no allegiance to Gen. Grenfell or his master. Neither does it appear a very glorious business to cut up several hundred men, poorly armed, who were fighting for their native land. We have no more right to send troops into Soudan than into Belgium, and so conscious is Lord Salisbury of this truth that he has refused Gen Grenfell's request to assault Handoub. The evacuation of Suakim has been ordered, and this evening's telegrams say that the announcement has caused a panic there.

Lord Salisbury declared three months since that Suakim was of no value to Egypt, and that he could not see why the Khedive should want it. The Times correspondent, writing last week from Cairo, says that Suakim has no interest for the Egyptian Government whatever. Why then all this cruel and reckless bloodshed? To put down the slave trade? Nothing of the kind. A gunboat stationed off Suakim would effectually prevent any slave trade across the Red Sea at that point. Cheap glory seems to have been the real motive, but the result may prove the reverse of glorious. Four of the dragoon's swords broke off at the handle in the very outset of the fight, and it is hoped they may be sent home as a "corpus delicti" against the War Office. Only last week there was a debate on these German-made swords in the House of Commons, in which Mr. Secretary Stanley attempted to prove that he could not get swords made in England.

This business of the swords gives the public an uneasy feeling in view of the probability of an impending European war. The Duke of Wellington sometimes hanged contractors, to the be nefit of the army, but we cannot get at the scamps who had the rotten swords and bayonets, as they live in Germany. It reminds us of the terrible knavery of our own British contractors in the Crimean War, as shown up by Russell of the Times, for they supplied our soldiers with boots of brown paper soles which fell off in the wet, leaving the men to be frostbitten in their feet while serving in the trenches.

There must be sweeping changes in the British War Office if any danger of European war impend. The present state of affairs is so disgraceful that a victory over native Arabs will not restore public confidence.

London, Dec. 22nd.

The ink of Osman Digna's letter was hardly dry when couriers arrived at Zanzibar with news of Stanley, which was at once telegraphed to London and caused yesterday morning a most agreeable surprise on being published. By a striking coincidence we had news of him to-day from the Congo State and West Africa, received through the King of Belgium. Both announcements, though coming from points 3,000 miles apart, are of the same tenor, that Stanley had reached Wadelai and found Emin Pasha in good health. All the white men of Stanley's party were well, but he was concerned at the delay of the rearguard under Major Bartellot, of whose murder he had not heard.

This news of the great explorer was all the more welcome because only a week ago Mr. Thompson, who knows all about Africa, wrote a letter in the Times in which he expressed his belief that Osman Digna's story was an invention and that Stanley had perished a year ago with all his party in the swamps and forests that lie between Congo and Wadelai. Africa has been fatal to so many travellers and heroic men, that there was only too much reason to fear that the Stanley expedition had shared the fate of that of General Hicks, whose bones had been picked by jackals and had whitened in the desert more than a year before any tidings reached us of the disaster. Perhaps the sad end of Major Bartellot made us more willing to believe that Stanley had succumbed in his most difficult enterprise. Since Gordon there has been no man in whom so much public interest has centred, and the simple fact that Stanley was alive and well four months ago is the most welcome assurance we have had for a long time.

In one point the details do not closely agree. The Zanzibar letters state that he endeavored in vain to prevail on Emin Pasha to leave Wadelai and return to Europe. The Congo account is that the latter had left and arrived with Stanley at some place on the West Coast. It is added that the Mahdi had sent messengers to Emin Pasha, demanding him to surrender Wadelai and promising to spare his life and treat him honorably. Perhaps he saw the impossibility of holding out against the Mahdi, and therefore consented to accompany Stanley to the Congo.

There is always room to fear that the Khalifa may have captured both of them since the departure of the messengers, but we must hope that such is not the case. Supposing, however, that it were true we may still trust that the Mahdi would not put them to death, as he knows the value of such hostages. If I am not mistaken there is an American, Lupton Bey, in the Mahdi's hands some four years, but this is like all other matters connected with the Soudan, most uncertain. Did we not hear three years ago of the Mahdi's death, with a full account of his funeral?

Meantime no importance is attached to the Snider cartridges, as it is shown that in many ways they could have fallen into the hands of the Arabs. A man writes today in the Times asserting that Stanley had no Snider rifles in his party. It is not so easy to explain how the Mahdi got possession of the Khedive's letter for Emin Pasha entrusted to Stanley. However, we may feel confident that the truth will be known in a month or two.

ROSARIO.

(From our own Correspondent)

January 27th.

The theme of irrigation is hardly apropos at this season when celestial irrigation is playing Old Harry with all the crops in the Litoral. Any foreigner recently arrived, and who had been here during the last three months, would find it difficult to imagine that want of water is one of the ills the country periodically suffers from, and that in many of the richest regions of the Republic, artificial irrigation is an absolute necessity. All the Andine as well as the central northern provinces are dependent on artificial irrigation for their crops, and the subject has attained a very grave importance, now that immigration is overflowing the boundaries of the litoral, and invading the interior.

Buenos Aires, Rosario and Entre Rios are to a great extent independent in the matter of water; the clouds, as a general rule, supply them with a sufficiency, although dry seasons are not rare; but as a rule, rain does us more injury than "secas," particularly when it comes in harvest time, as in this year. But when we leave the litoral zone 75 miles behind us, going west, we get into regions that require artificial irrigation to insure a certain result, and there are few countries in the world where this can be obtained so abundantly as in the central and Andine provinces. The supply of water from the vast chain of the Andes is practically inexhaustible, but, as is well known, the vast plains suck it up, and it benefits nobody, or it stagnates in large lakes without outlets, and consequently turns salt.

The time has arrived to turn this grand supply of the precious liquid to useful purposes. In Buenos Aires there has been already much talk of canals, but I take it they are more for keeping a too great abundance of surface water under control, and not for the purposes of irrigation. But north of the province of Buenos Aires we want a system of canals for the sole purpose of irrigation, supplied by the immense volume of Andine water that now is swallowed up in the abysses of the pampa.

In Tucuman the Legislature and Executive have just sanctioned an important law on this subject. I translate it, as it is of public interest:—

Art. 1. The Executive is hereby authorized to obtain by means of the Topographical Department, or through the means of Speci sions, the necessary plans and drawings for the purpose of establishlishing throughout the province a general system of irrigation.

Art. 2. The surveys will commence in the zones already under cultivation, or in those which most urgently require the attention of Government; and where it is possible solicit the expropriation of the canals and ditches belonging to private parties, and other works connected with the system proposed.

Art. 3. The Executive will present to the Legislature in their first session of the year 1890, the general and partial plans executed up to date, accompanied by specifications and details.

I hope the example of Tucuman will be followed by other provinces.

As I prognosticated in one of my letters on the Exposition, the cabeña of Mr. Nash carried of the palm in the show of horses, having won three gold medals, two silver ones, and a grand diploma of honor.

Mr. Jewell carried off silver medals for his Byron and Rosario. Mr. Paz received a well-merited gold medal for his magnificent Percheron mare, Mr. Lett for a fine Clydesdale, and Messrs. Ledesma and Reguniga obtained silver medals.

The wonderful blind pig, eleven hundred weight, carried off a gold medal; there was no competition. The prize was given for quantity, not for quality. One of the Committee got a big gold medal for a pair of boots; but it is right to say they were not botas de potro. It is also right to say that although a number of receivers of silver and bronze medals are refusing them with scorn, not one of the recipients of a gold medal has evinced a desire to return it.

The resignation of the popular Minister of the Interior, Dr. Wilde, is much exercising public opinion. No adequate reason can be guessed at,. The wretched row in Mendoza, where one of the best governors in the Republic was assaulted in his own house and made to resign, had undoubtedly something to do with the downfall of Dr. Wilde; but how, and wherefore? I think if we were to atar cabos, we might get to the secret: President Juarez is not much in love with Mr. Benegas, who is a little too independent for the times; cabo No. 1: Dr. Wilde and Mr. Pellegrini, are also apt to like their own way; cabo No. 2: The other four ministers, knowing the President's proclivities, knuckled under to them, knowing that in a week or two he would reassume his band and baton of office; and so they refused to place their names to the Decree of reinstatement of Mr. Benegas; cabo No. 3: As they would not resign, what they should have done, Dr. Wilde had to do so, for he could not remain in the Cabinet at loggerheads with all his colleagues, and after probably frustrating the policy of the President; cabo No. 4: Ergo, Mr. Pellegrini and Dr. Wilde deserve the thanks of all upright citizens, and the others—well they are all "honorable men," as any Argentine Anthony will tell us.

As through excessive duties, coffee, as well as many other articles of necessity for the table, has reached a price that only the well-to-do can afford, it is a welcome piece of intelligence that the French are now cultivating an indigenous plant, in the island of Reunion, which gives a fruit that is said to be so like coffee in taste, flavour and hygienic properties, that it may with advantage replace the best qualities of Mocha, and mixed with coffee it improves this berry wonderfully, being far superior to chickory for this purpose. The native name of the plant is "Mussenda," and the French are now cultivating 1200 hectareas, which will produce 3 millions of kilogrammes. The high lands of Jujuy and Salta would be just the thing for this new coffee-plant. Let's get some of the seed and try.

"Mourrir pour la Patrie." Your patriotic and clever correspondent, who writes the interesting "Mems," excited a smile on my saturnine, (only saturnine through this infernal weather), face. He also was in a storm of rain on landing on the shores of his native land, and "found some difficulty in getting a jaunting car, which 'toour mind' he says, 'is the jolliest and pleasantest means of conveyance in all Europe, although ladies from Buenos Ayres, unaccustomed to them, have to hold on very hard to keep from being tossed off." What a jolly and pleasant vehicle it must be, particularly for the streets of Buenos Ayres and Rosario!

I am going to give a piece of advice to my young lady friends. An advertisement of Pear's Soap, puts me in mind of it. The notorious Miss Georgiana Weldon is made to say that although she is 50, Pear's soap gives her a complexion of 17; and plenty of other advertisements of the same character extoll the soap as a beautifier of the skin. My dear girls, don't believe a word of it. Pear's soap is a very nice detergent; it takes away the dirt in a pleasant manner, for it is well made; but no one, and particularly females, should forget that that very nice soap as well as all others, have alkali as an ingredient, and alkali is a corrosive. Girls, if they want a good complexion, should never wash their faces with any kind of soap, however excellent, except on the very rarest occasions, when they begrime them by accident. There is no necessity of anything but hot or cold water. Women have no idea that pimples, blotches, and skin diseases that disfigure their faces almost always come from the use of soap. Let any girl in good health say, of 12 to 20, give up completely the use of soap on her face, and I will guarantee her a clear complexion until 50. The less used on the hands the better; but somehow, the face is the part of the body most susceptible of damage from the alkali in soap.

PERFIDIOUS URUGUAY.

(From Money)

History appears to be again repeating itself after the lapse of fourteen years in respect to the Republic of Uruguay. In 1874 statements appeared in the press questioning the stability of the financial position of the Republic, and the then Consul-General, Señor Soto, and Dr. Don Pedro Bustamente, ex-Chancellor of the Exchequer and Financial Agent for the Government, issued a pamphlet under the title of "Uruguay Stock as a Very Secure and Most Profitable Investment." The statements and statistics contained in the official publication were, however, questioned at the time, and as events subsequently proved, Uruguay was not the profitable investment which these gentlemen tried to make out, for the Republic shortly after failed to meet its engagements. To a certain extent a similar course is being adopted at the present time. Recent mail advices announced that since the preceding administration a deficit has existed in the Public Treasury to the extent of nearly four and a half million dollars. On this being made public, Mr. Mich Carroll, Agent for the Banco Nacional, published a letter to the effect that the rumours were unfounded, and that he was authorised to contradict them by the Banco Nacional. Following this letter comes another from Don Alberto Nin, who negotiated the Baring loan of one and a half million sterling, stating that "there is no deficit in the revenue. This is not only well maintained, but is increasing with the growth of the country, and is fully adequate to meet all the obligations."

Let us see now how far Alberto Nin's statements can be relied upon. President Tajes, in his message to Congress, says "that the actual Government assumed the administracion in November, 1886, with a heavy debt, arising in consequence of the deficits left upon the estimates of revenue and expenditure for 1885-86, and for 1886-7, and with a considerable sum arising in the form of bills payable for public works in construction, in addition to commitments, not included in the estimates, which have matured during the fiscal period of 1887-88, necessarily increasing the existing deficit. The Executive Power would have brought this matter more promptly under the consideration of your Honourable House, but for the circumstance that the prudence and circumspection with which questions directly or indirectly affecting the national credit have to be treated, led the Executive Power to abstain from making this public and official exhibit until the time —now arrived—when it might be done without interrupting or breaking the pending financial operations which we had in course of negotiation in Europe. The diminution of the public revenues, produced by the rebate and suppression of imports on the one hand, and the other expenditure not included in the estimates, but unavoidable, are the factors of the deficits left by the fiscal periods of 1886 to 1887, and 1887 to 1888, and which amount to 4,147,185 dollars. In order to cancel the debt the Government submits to you a proposed law sanctioning the issue of 4,200,000 dollars in bills on the Government, which shall be drawn for 12, 18, and 24 months, with interest at 9 per cent. With the issue of the Treasury bonds a settlement will be effected of the debt, which originated in deficits in the estimates of previous years; but this, unfortunately, will not dispose of all the debt which weighs upon the State and adds to the cares of the Government. There is still in suspense 900,000 dols. of credit notes, which ought to be paid out of the second series of "Consolidated Debt."

It is thus seen that Don Alberto Nin is no more to be relied on than was Señor Soto and Dr. Bustamente in 1874. Nor for the matter of that are any of the official statements; for it is now clear from the above utterances of the President that the Six per Cent. loan of 1888 was issued under misrepresentation, for the prospectus stated that "there is no floating debt whatever." Don Alberto Nin, following the steps of his predecessor, Soto, says the country is prosperous, and the population is increasing. If the trade of the country has increased, so has also the indebtedness. The National Debt in 1861 was only 3,354,870 dols.; in 1874 it stood at about 46,000,000 dols.; while twelve months ago it was 79,108,000 dols., and to-day it must be approaching 90,000,000 dols., if the balance of Barings' loan, after paying off 12,500,000 dols. of internal indebtedness and the 4,000,000 dols. which the President now admits are taken into consideration. Unfortunately, the increase in the debt of the country is not due to an expenditure on public works of a remunerative character, but has arisen chiefly from deficits in the budgets produced by thriftless expenditure. Alberto Nin says the population is increasing, but he does not give any figures. It was, however, admitted to be about 500,000 in 1874, while now it is calculated to be about 700,000; so that in fourteen years it has increased 200,000, while the debt has been augmented about 44 million dollars. Nor has the revenue made very much progress; in 1874 it was 10,204,696 dollars, and expenditure 12,542,598 dollars; in 1888 it is estimated to reach 14,789,000 dollars, and expenditure 13,383,000 dols. The progress made in the trade of the country is seen as follows:—

| | Imports Dols. | Exports Dols. | Totals Dols. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1872 | 18,859,724 | 15,480,332 | 34,349,256 |
| 1874 | 17,181,672 | 15,244,783 | 32,426,455 |
| 1883 | 20,000,000 | 25,000,000 | 45,000,000 |
| 1885 | 25,275,000 | 25,253,000 | 50,528,600 |
| 1886 | 20,195,000 | 23,812,000 | 44,007,000 |

It is thus seen that Uruguay has not made the progress she ought to have made in the past fourteen years in proportion to the increase of her debt. Nor are official statements any more to be trusted than they were in 1874, when Soto and Bustamante issued their pamphlet.

URUGUAY IN 1888.

IMMIGRATION AND REVENUE.

(From the Montevideo River Plate Times)

The immigration movement in the past year from the other side of the Atlantic shows some improvement on former years, though it falls far short of what could have been wished, as the following figures, being a table comparing the arriva's and departures from and for abroad in the years 1887 and 1888, will prove:

| 1887 | Arrivals | Departures |
|---|---|---|
| January | 966 | 260 |
| February | 577 | 332 |
| March | 612 | 436 |
| April | 713 | 846 |
| May | 964 | 865 |
| June | 1055 | 711 |
| July | 867 | 650 |
| August | 855 | 532 |
| September | 1194 | 457 |
| October | 1403 | 459 |
| November | 1530 | 542 |
| December | 2130 | 396 |
| Total... | 12867 | 6252 |

| 1888 | Arrivals | Departures |
|---|---|---|
| January | 1762 | 438 |
| February | 1219 | 539 |
| March | 1263 | 534 |
| April | 802 | 923 |
| May | 1294 | 1055 |
| June | 958 | 740 |
| July | 969 | 685 |
| August | 1069 | 665 |
| September | 1094 | 585 |
| October | 1220 | 496 |
| November | 1260 | 511 |
| December | 2648 | 436 |
| Total... | 15498 | 6647 |

The following figures show a further comparison with former years:

| Year | Arrivals | Departures | Difference |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1883 | 11,086 | 6,089 | 4,997 |
| 1884 | 11,954 | 6,040 | 5,914 |
| 1885 | 15,679 | 6,729 | 8,950 |
| 1886 | 12,291 | 6,542 | 5,749 |
| 1887 | 12,867 | 6,252 | 6,615 |
| 1888 | 15,498 | 6,647 | 8,851 |

The figures in the last column above do not really indicate the number of immigrants who have remained each year in this country, but simply those who have not returned whither they came. When we compare similar statistics referring to Uruguay and the Argentine Republic, the year that has just gone presents a more consoling appearance in comparison with former years. The neighbouring Republic formerly not only did not send us a single immigrant but absorbed almost all that came here. Thus in 1886 the arrivals from abroad reached 12,201, the departures 6542. Apparently the country gained 5,749 immigrants; but not so, for at the same time the movement with the opposite shore was, arrivals 23,780, departures 29,099. Taking all the arrivals and departures together we see that the country gained only 430 persons.

In 1887, there was some improvement, the Argentine Republic absorbed only 2,479 immigrants of the 6,615 that the movement from abroad had given to us; the arrivals from other side of the Plate being 32,141 and the departures 31,620.

In 1888 we throw back the ball, for the balance for the first time is in our favour. During the past year 52,102 persons have arrived from the Argentine Republic, whilst the departures thither have only been 45,483; giving a balance in favour of this country of 6619 which together with the 8,851 from abroad, give us a total increase this year by immigration of 15,470.

Custom House Revenue

The following is the Custom House revenue:—

| | $ |
|---|---|
| January | 1,102,825 94 |
| February | 702,981 37 |
| March | 853,822 89 |
| April | 592,956 14 |
| May | 558,878 26 |
| June | 659,043 98 |
| July | 702,105 03 |
| August | 812,186 62 |
| September | 812,186 62 |
| October | 793,228 46 |
| November | 592,507 48 |
| December | 707,285 49 |
| Total ... | $8,860,449 82 |

In 1886, the Custom House produced $6,846,176 and in 1887 it yielded 8,687,312 dollaars.

We are glad to be able to note that the smallness of the increase from 1887 to 1888 was not due to any failure in the natural increase of commercial movement, but to the suppression of the export dues.

In 1887 the export dues added 1,060,171 to the total revenue, the 1887 gave $850,781; but 1888 has only obtained $323,220 from exportation.

In other words the total revenue now depends almost entirely upon importation, so that the $8,860,449 to which it has attained this year denote growing progress, for if the export dues had not been suppressed the Custom House Revenue would easily have reached nine million and a half. Here we will call attention to a fact which we shall mention more than once before closing this article: these figures are gold dollars, and making comparison with other South American countries the majority of which have a depreciated paper currency, an allowance must be made in favour of Uruguay.

Railway Items.

THE ARGENTINE GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY,

ITS ACCIDENTS, DELAYS, WORKING AND KILOMETRAGE

THE GATES OF THE B. AIRES PORT WORKS

THE CAT OUT OF THE BAG.

Mr. Pirovano, Head of the Department of Engineers, has forwarded his weekly general report to the Minister of the Interior. The report is for the week ending 12th inst. and has a tearful paragraph on that railway sinner, the Argentine Great Western: this line, Mr. Pirovano, states, has "suffered" no improvement, the delays in the arrivals and departures of trains being an organic infirmity that calls for very radical treatment. The root of the evil, as usual, lies in defficient rolling-stock, and the delay must continue, perhaps in a still more aggravating degree, until the new rolling stock arrives from England. During the week this railway caused the death of two people, half the number of those caused by the Mendoza revolution. The pointsman at Mendoza station was crushed between two waggons. The station-master whilst shunting trains met his untimely death in the same manner. Mr. Perivona opines that the company should be made responsible for such accidents, as they arise from the antiquated gear used in the iron fastenings and buffers of the rolling-stock. The report then deals with an off-the-line on the Pacific Railway attended with no loss of life or limb, and winds up with the statement that all the permanent ways of the railroads are in a rickety condition owing to the heavy rains.

After reading the above, it will interest our readers to study the figures of the working of the Argentine Great Western Railway in the month of November last. Working of November:—

| | $ |
|---|---|
| Returns..... | 80,133.25 |
| Expenses..... | 131,924.05 |
| DEFICITS. | 51,790.80 |
| Kilometres working..... | 513 |
| Results per kilometre of line: | Per kil. |
| Returns..... | 156.20 |
| Expenses... | 257.16 |
| DEFICITS..... | 100.96 |

The above statement is truly melancholy. Can nothing be done to improve at least the financial condition of the line, since its material improvement is still a question of the dim and distant future? The Argentine Republic is supposed to be the most remunerative railway field in the world! Yet here we see—The Argentine Great Western and the East Argentine —two railway companies in this country working at a dead loss; we do not mention that spurious attempt at a railroad—the Primer Entre Riano, since it cannot even aspire to the humble rank of a one horse tramway line.

Kilometrage run by the Argentine Great Western railway during the month of November:—

| | Kilom. |
|---|---|
| Locomotives ..... | 65,623 |
| Coaches..... | 181,356 |
| Waggons..... | 697,300 |
| Total..... | 944,279 |

On Sunday last, one of the wagons of an outward-bound goods train of the Pacific Railway went off the track between Pilar and Cortines, causing the combination train from the Andine Provinces to wait nearly three hours in the latter station, and an outgoing passenger train having a similar experience on the Pilar side of the obstruction.

The line is still in a very bad condition, trains having to go at snail's pace over a great many parts. Gangs of navvies are however, being kept hard at work, and if the bad weather would only stop, a great improvement would quickly be seen.

Although not strictly pertaining to this railway column, we extend its hospitality to Public Works in general especially to news of the Buenos Ayres Port Works the great topic of the hour. The head of the Public Works Board sent to the Home Minister yesterday a copy of the report of the Government inspector of the port works, announcing that the contractors had resolved to adopt the precautionary measure of building a brick wall instead of putting up the gates that lead to the South Basin. The desideration hereby gained is the possibility of erecting the gates on dry ground and trying them before they must bear the full brunt of the pressure of water from the Basin. Mr. Stavilus, who is the Government inspector, adds that the contractors expect extra or additional pay for the job. The Board of Public Works, however, fails to see any plausible grounds for such a demand, and backed up by the General Inspection of Hydraulics advises the Government not to pay, as it has nothing whatever to do with the variegated means contractors may resort to in the fulfilment of their contracts. In fact, to tell the whole truth, these gates have not been put up for the very simple reason that important pieces of machinery pertaining to the lock have not yet arrived in the country. This lets the cat out of the bag.

A self-evident mistake occurred in our notes on the telegram from Asuncion, published in our issue of January 26th. The level of the surveys above the Paraguay is not 365 feet, but 36½.

Calidad del terreno—En toda la estensa zona que tiene la linea del ferrocarril del Sud, no existe una area de tierra que sea mas adecuada para la agricultura.

En cualquier parte, el labrador encuentra mas de un metro de profundidad de tierra vejetal, no siendo estraordinario que la capa de tierra arable pase de dos ó tres metros.

Es una planecie uniforme, donde jamas se estacionan las aguas, sirviendo el arroyo Sauce Corto, para el drenaje natural de todo el campo, pues lo limite al Norte. Este por sus elevadas barrancas.

Todo el perimetro destinado á la colonia, está alambrado. No existe dentro de el hacienda alguna.

Todos los agricultores conocen las ventajas y concesiones que tienen segun la ley de centros agrícolas con arreglo á la cual se venderan estas chacras.

Las tierras reconocen una hipoteca de $50 m/n por hectarea pagaderas en 25 años, que pasara al comprador, haciendose cargo de dichas cédulas al precio de bolsa el dia antes del remate.

Y el resto se abonará un 5 o/o al contado y 95 restante á cuatro años de plazo con hipoteceo del mismo campo.

NOTA—Los interesados tienen que salir en el tren de la tarde del Viernes 1° de Febrero de la estacion Constitucion.

Planos detallados pueden obtenerse en nuestra casa, Alsina 434.

To-day's business in gold shews that the tendency of the market is decidedly for a fall though few venture to believe that the liquidation can pass off without a bearish corner and consequent advance. As matters stand, however, the premium is weak. The supply of gold is also abundant enough to foster fair hopes of a large delivery at the liquidation, and as paper is by no means over easy a further decline is not outside the range of probabilities. What in truth is staggering the market at present is not the fall of gold, which is still high, but the week-kneed state of the sovereign stock, which is in a fainting state, almost threatening collapse. When the month started the shares were scarcely to be had at 74, now they are friendless at 10 points lower. In fact, such is the depression and so flat the market that a further decline is anticipated, since there are no buyers for February, whilst a good many lots have still to be placed for this month. No less strange a situation is the firmness of all the other values. Credito Real positively boomed this morning and closed fairly firm, whilst Constructors are keeping stiff as a rock. The latter ought to advance still further, as the dividend will be declared next month, and the obligations are already at 100 per cent. premium. Thus the situation all round is by no means unsettled, even though the liquidation is at hand.

The exchange is at a standstill, as there is no packet until the 2nd inst.

The wool markets are active, prices being sustained and the tendency good. The camp roads and shaky state of the railway tracks are keeping arrivals very low. We believe that from the same cause many of the Uruguay factories have had to be discontinued, as the supply of bricks fell short.

Advices from the Banda Oriental report the crops all lost in the recent deluge. In Canelones, the great grain centre, scarcely a fanega of grain will be gathered, and the farmers, it is said, see blue ruin staring them in the face.

The works for the opening of an outlet canal of the Guilino dock are finished, at a cost of $20,364. These works will not only save the neighbouring inhabitants from being flooded out, but will serve as a complementary part of the dock, so that the latter can now be emptied in a very short time.

Saturday's business on the Rosario Bolsa was mild, comprising 110,000 dollars gold for end of month and 50,000 for February, at rates ranging between 152.50 to 80 for former and 152.10 for latter date. The attendance of brokers was small and feeling dull. The s.s Hogarth has discharged a cargo of railway material and clears for San Nicolas to receive 1000 bags maize after which she will return here to be despatched direct for Liverpool.

The yearly report of the Camara Sindical of the La Plata Bolsa shews that the latter institution is by no means in a flattering state, as the new members and retiring members form an equilibrium, making 153 for each side. The report says that the June krach in this market completely prostrated affairs there, due to the withdrawl of large capitals from the La Plata stocks, although matters now look more hopeful. The Chamber hopes that when the new Bolsa building is finished there will be a large increase of members.

In Bahia Blanca a troop of bullock carts containing 9635 kilos wool from M. Magallanes property in Villarino has been detained owing to a reprehensible error made by a municipal employee in Villarino who set down the figure at 963 kilos, obliging the peon to return and have correction made. Mr. David Aguirre, paymaster, left to-day for Patagones with pay for the Rio Negro naval division for months of August, September. October, November and December.

The Custom House receipts in Asuncion for second half of month of November 1888 summed up the round amount of 137,556$. It would be interesting to note the increase of revenue in this item as compared with former periods, but unfortunately no returns are given. Of above sum 8 o/o, or say, $7,735 was handed over to the Public Credit Department.

The slaughter in the Oriental saladeros for month Jan amounts to 155,442 head, comparing favourably with former returns, as for same period in 1888 the number of head slaughtered was 103,825, and for 1887 only 59,333. Buenos Aires gold to the amount of $36,100 was received by Messrs. Superville and Tejada. A property belonging to Dr. Reus containing 104,865 square yards alongside the Jackson and Piñeyrua properties was sold by auction at 52 cents the vara, payment being received in Obras shares.

Business at second hour was quiet and perhaps unimportant but for the collapse in the sovereign stock, which tumbled to 264 and closed weak at that rate. Gold dropped to 152,90 for to-morrow and looks like taking a further dip, though it keeps up for end of month. There was little done in stocks, for which the demand is more limited than usual.

After the close of the ring some lots of Flores Constructors were put up for sale, but could not find a buyer, and were withdrawn.

The following is a summary of operations effected this evening at the 2nd ring :

The s.s. Elbe arrived to-day at Montevideo and comes up to-day : correspondence per Eolo.

The s.s. Dante arrived from Valencia with cargo of wines.

The s.s. Provence arrived yesterday in Montevideo with 800 passengers for Buenos Aires ; comes up to-day.

Latest accounts from the new Bermejo Colony are most satisfactory and reassuring. It appears that since the expulsion of the Communists, who at first gave such trouble, no further difficulty has arisen, and hopes are entertained that before long the first crops will come down for sale ; the lands about Timbo are the most fertile in the world, and the climate, even for North Europeans, is most healthy, if, instead of working in the fields during the great heat of the day, they arise with the sun, and after 9 o'clock breakfast indulge in a good "siesta," as they do in Paraguay, where physicians are all but unknown, and health and happiness reign supreme. Mr. J. M. Inferne leaves to-morrow for the colony, and if Government gives no special ground in the south, we think no better site could be chosen for the establishment of the 400 Irish families said to be on their way out, and for whose accommodation something must be done in time.

Advices from the south announce that such is the extraordinary demand for the splendid camps of Sauce Corto, Curumalan and Arroyo Corto, that nobody will now sell there under 100 dols. the hectare, payable in four years. The owners of the Sauce Corto Colony have received private offers for purchase of whole lot, but refuse to sell except at auction; which will take place on the 2nd and 3rd February.

Messrs. Sanchez and Moreno sold yesterday by auction 1350 hectares in Dolores at 25 mpn the hectare, or say 33,750 dols. the lot ; buyer Mr Serrentes, seller the Fomento Territorial de La Plata.

The meeting of the shareholders of the Banco de Comercio was held to-day at 3.30 p.m. in the hall of the bank, with a fair attendance of shareholders. The balance sheet and report were read, the former, which we publish being unanimously approved as also the latter as far as the distribution of the profits went, but a portion containing a project for a fresh issue of 10,000 shares of 100 gold dollars each was put off for next meeting there not being a sufficient number of shareholders present to authorize it. It seems that there is a majority of the board in favour of the issue, though it is scarcely clear how the bank with a gold and paper capital, distinct issues, can apportion the dividend. It is said also that many of the shareholders take this view. With regard to the six months working it is most satisfactory in every way, and reflects great credit on Mr. Pasman's ability, the returns shewing a net gain of $220,418 which with the usual deductions for board, reserve and founders' shares, leaves a dividend of 6½ dollars per share and $3.46 for the 60 o/o scrip. These figures speak for themselves, and demonstrate the successful march of the bank. The following is the balance-sheet :
